MEMORANDUM FOR:  Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Chairman, Special Group.

FROM:  Richard H. Davis, Chairman Special Working Group

SUBJECT:  Fourth Berlin Progress Report - October 12 - December 11, 1961

1. Detailed Plans for Use of CIA Contingency Agents.

   The Special Working Group of the Intersessional Coordinating Committee on Berlin has considered the first draft of a clandestine operations plan. This paper is intended to assist CIA in its detailed planning for use of the covert assets created or in the process of formation as a result of earlier decisions by the Special Working Group taken pursuant to the "Covert Actions Arena of the Berlin Contingency Plan" approved by the Special Group at its meeting on August 17, 1961. The draft paper is based on US and counterpartite contingency planning, which is not yet fully agreed and which still has some gaps. The scope of the draft paper is necessarily limited by the incompleteness of the underlying contingency plans. The draft was prepared in order to relate the covert assets available and in process of formation to the agreed plans for dealing with the expected contingency situations. CIA has sent the draft to their field stations for comments, and it will be reviewed when those comments and the comments of interested agencies are received.
2. Attack on Soviet Espionage.

With the surfacing in Germany of Region Shishimbei and of cover likeness shortly thereafter on November 30, 1961, we initiated the program to publicize Soviet espionage and subversive activities in the West and particularly those launched or directed from East Germany.
The objectives of the program are to counter-balance Soviet charges against West Berlin and to initiate a campaign against the Soviet espionage and subversive activities against the West.

The program is off to a good start. In several countries considerable interest has been aroused and more material is being made available,

1. Detailed Plans for Use of CIA Contingency Assets

The Special Working Group of the Interdepartmental Coordinating Committee on Berlin has considered the first draft of a clandestine operations plan. The draft paper is based on US and Quadripartite contingency planning, which is not yet fully agreed and which still has some gaps. The scope of the draft paper is necessarily limited by the incompleteness of the underlying contingency plans. The draft was prepared in order to relate the covert assets available and in process of formation to the agreed plans for dealing with the expected emergency situations. CIA has sent the draft to its field stations for comments, and it will be reviewed when these comments and the comments of interested agencies are received.

2. Attack on Soviet Espionage

With the surfacing in Germany of Bogdan Stanchinski and of Counter-Link shortly thereafter on November 23, 1961, we initiated the program to publicize Soviet espionage and subversive activities in the West and particularly those launched or directed from East Germany. The objectives of the program are to counter-balance Soviet charges against West Berlin and to initiate a campaign against the Soviet espionage and subversion activities against the West.

The program is off to a good start. In several countries considerable interest has been aroused and more material is being made available.
