I. Military Situation

SOUTH KOREAN FORCES, DISPLAYING SUBSTANTIAL TACTICAL SKILL IN INITIAL CONTACT WITH ADVANCED ELEMENTS OF THE UN DIVISION IN THE OSAN AREA, CONTINUE TO PUSH NORTHNESS, BUT WITHOUT THE SAME EXPENDITURE OF CASUALTIES AS BEFORE. THE HUNDREDTH DIVISION IS APPARENTLY STABILIZED, IN THE PROCESS OF MAKING A SUCCESSFUL BREAKOUT FROM THE initial ADVANCE INTO THE OSAN AREA, IT IS EXPECTED TO COMPLETE ITS REORGANIZATION BY THE END OF
THE MONTH. THE TRANSITION FROM TACTICAL TO STRATEGIC CONTROL HAS PROVED DIFFICULT, BUT Ongoing OPERATION CONTINUOUS LYNCHPIN CONTINUES TO BE EFFECTIVE, AND IS EXPECTED TO ENSURE THE ADVANCE OF OUR TROOPS TOWARDS THE 38TH PARALLEL.

II. Political Situation

A continuing trend to resist among Republican officials in North Korea can be observed, with the National Assembly hearing reports of government actions amounting to a decision to aid the Republic. The resolution was signed by Secretary of State on 1 July. The resolution passed by the National Assembly in July, which has been supported in the United Nations by the Republic and all the Republic's friends.

In recent talks, the Republic and China have discussed a possible cease-fire agreement. The Republic has expressed its willingness to negotiate under the guidance of the United Nations. China has also expressed its support for the cease-fire agreement.

The United Nations Command has requested the Republic to provide additional forces. The Republic has agreed to provide additional forces, and negotiations are ongoing to finalize the details.

The Republic has also requested the United Nations Command to provide additional forces to support its efforts. The United Nations Command has agreed to provide additional forces, and negotiations are ongoing to finalize the details.
Shin Ik Hi, Chairman of the National Assembly, and was the first indication that Shin, a widely respected individual, had succeeded in accompanying the Government in its move south.

Executions of prominent anti-Communists in Seoul continue to be reported. Meanwhile, Kim Kiu Sik, a leader of Korean "middle-of-the-road" parties who is widely known for his leadership of overseas resistance during the period of Japanese occupation, is apparently collaborating with the Northern invaders.

R. H. HILLENKOETTER
Rear Admiral, USN
Director of Central Intelligence