Sec. 102. (a) There shall be in the Council of National Defense a Central Intelligence Agency (hereinafter in this section referred to as the "Agency"), with a Director, who shall be the head thereof, to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Director shall receive compensation at the rate of $12,000 per annum. Any Vice President for the time being of the United States Air Force, or a commissioned officer of the United States Army, the United States Navy, or the United States Air Force may be appointed to the office of Director. and his appointment to, acceptance of, and service in, such office shall in no way affect any status, office, rank, or grade he may occupy or hold in the United States Army, the United States Navy, or the United States Air Force, or any emolument, prerequisite, right, privilege, or benefit incident to his grade and length of service and shall be paid, from any funds available to defray the expenses of the Agency, annual compensation at a rate equal to the amount by which $12,000 exceeds the amount of his annual military pay and allowances. There shall be assigned to duty with the Agency such military and civilian personnel of the departments and agencies of the Government as the Council of National Defense may, from time to time, recommend and the President approves. Such of such military personnel as the President may determine to shall be the duty of the Agency, under the supervision and direction of the Council of National Defense, to plan, develop, and coordinate the foreign intelligence activities of the United States in such manner as to secure the most effective accomplishment of the intelligence
The