APPROVED FOR RELEASE DATE:
26-Aug-2008
Approval of Minutes

1. Action: The minutes of the meeting of 14 June 1951 (IAC-M-33) were approved.

Distribution of the Watch Committee Reports

2. Action: It was agreed that we should give the British as much information of this type as possible as promptly as possible. It was left up to General Weckerling to work out the detailed recommendations for approval by the IAC.

Possible Communist Objectives in Suggesting a Cease Fire in Korea (SE-8)

3. Action: It was decided to refer the draft to the Deputies for further discussion with the understanding that they were authorized to approve the paper for the IAC.

4. Discussion: The opinion was expressed that if in spite of Chinese Communists, UN Forces should approach the Manchurian border, the USSR would consider the situation and feel that they had no alternative but to intervene directly. It was the consensus that the Soviets do not now want to do this. The Communists, therefore, would like to disengage on terms not disadvantageous to them. It was felt that although their present predicament does not oblige them to disengage on any terms, it is possible that they may foresee themselves in a more critical situation in the future.

Proposed "National Intelligence Study" on Soviet Military Assistance to the Chinese Communists (IAC-D-24)

5. Action: The paper was approved and G-2 agreed to take primary responsibility for the work.
Effects of Operations in Korea on Communist China (NIE-32)

6. Action: The estimate was revised slightly and was approved with the addition of a footnote pointing out that the Air Force wished to emphasize the limited scope of the paper.

7. Mr. Reber was directed to take action with regard to the "Intelligence Gaps as Revealed in NIE-32" (IAC-D-25) and to see that each problem is broken down into its essential elements of information.
